

The ESL New Student House
Contact: Rashida Aziz: azizra@lagcc.cuny.edu

The New Student House is an excellent cluster for new ESL098 students. As a student in this cluster, you will be a member of a close learning community which creates a sense of connectedness to the college for you and offers a supportive environment to help you develop the required English language skills to achieve academic success. The three professors work closely together to create a cohesive language learning environment for you with their on-going coordination of materials and tasks and reinforcement of language skills (reading, writing and speaking) through adherence to the joint syllabus and selected materials.

The rich syllabus includes a series of activities usually not provided at this intermediate level of ESL. You learn how to do a library research project which other ESL 098 students do not do. The syllabus also includes a field trip, a movie show, an all-day conference with the three professors about your academic progress, and other special events. These give you, the cluster student, a special advantage over other students taking ESL ONLY classes and enable you to improve the English language skills necessary to succeed in achieving your academic goals. Any student who needs the following courses may take the ESL New Student House Cluster.
